

Channel	Luo Connecting	Treats	Flows Towards	Shi Pathology	Xu pathology
LU	LU-7	Note: All Luo connecting channels spread from the Luo connecting point to their respective internal-external paired channel and then onwards to follow their own pathway. 1. Disorders of interior-exterior related channels and/or zangfu. 2. Regions reached by Luo channels. 3. Psycho-emotional issues (especially the yin channels & SI, ST).	Thenar eminence	Hot palms & wrists	Frequent urination, enuresis
PC	PC-6		Heart	Chest pain	Head & neck stiffness
HT	HT-5		Tongue and Eyes	Fullness in the chest	Aphasia
SP	SP-4		ST, SI, LI fu organs	Abdominal pain, food poisoning, N,V & D	Abdominal distension
KI	KI-4		PC	Enuresis. Irritability, depression	Lumbar pain
LV	LV-5		External genitals	Testicular swelling, hernia-like disorders	Groin itching
LI	LI-6		Teeth & Ears	Toothache, deafness	Cold teeth. Chest fullness & congestion
SJ	SJ-5		Chest	Elbow spasms	Weak arms & elbows
SI	SI-7		Shoulder region	Loose joints, stiff elbow, muscle atrophy in arm	Long warts. Itching scabies.
ST	ST-40		Neck	Insanity, epilepsy. Sudden loss of voice, pharyngitis	Weakness or atrophy in legs and feet
BL	BL-58		KI channel on lower leg	Nasal congestion, headache, backache	Clear nasal discharge. Epistaxis
GB	GB-37		Dorsum of lateral side of foot	Fainting	Weakness in feet. Difficulty standing from sitting position
Ren	Ren-15		Branches out over abdomen	Painful abdominal skin	Itchy abdominal skin
Du	Du-1		Bilateral branches along spine to occiput	Stiffness of spine	Dizziness
Great SP	SP-21	Branches over costal area, chest and ribs	All body pain	Weakness in limbs	